Time capsules – if you have access to a printer this is a great activity that you can keep and will have it to look back on long after this pandemic is over. Here is the ENGLISH link and here is the FRENCH link.	Time to build! This week’s challenge will be to build a paper boat! Then find a puddle and see if you can make it float! If you really enjoyed this activity you can CLICK HERE to find a list of STEAM challenges that Anglophone North has suggested for this week. If you capture any photos during this process please send them to kari.waye@nbed.nb.ca so they can be posted on the Taking it to the Max Page!	Take a walk around your neighborhood and count the number of hearts that you see in the windows of people’s houses.
Spring is in the air! Take another walk around your neighborhood. This time pay attention to what you see, hear, smell and touch. What are differences from last week?? When you return home, take out your writing journal or a book you have chosen to do your writing in. Write about your walk using your senses to help describe your experience, you can also draw a picture to go with your writing.	Multiplication war! Now that you have had time to go review your facts, it is time for war! Find someone in your house to play multiplication war with. All you need is a deck of cards and to read the instructions. CLICK HERE for a link that will explain this game.	Draw a picture of a moose for Max the Moose and put it in your window. Not great at drawing....no problem. CLICK HERE to watch an Art Hub video on how to draw a moose.
Watch your favourite movie or show with someone at home – act out a different ending. If you are not camera shy, get someone to video your performance!	Max Aitken now has a free account to Tumble Math.
